

OKCBUSINESS

Central Oklahoma's Business in Print and Online

Paperless Solutions automates The Bankers Bank

Durocher's OKC Business NewsWire
August 5, 2003

Paperless Solutions automates The Bankers Bank

About 230 Oklahoma community banks will now be served by advanced paperless technology.

Oklahoma City-based The Paperless Solution recently implemented the industry's only automated file management solution at The Bankers Bank in Oklahoma City. The Cabinet NG Shared Access Filing Environment (SAFE) automatically files bank documents and checks when an employee scans paper or begins typing on any computer.

The Bankers Bank (TBB) is a bank owned by bankers, directed by bankers and chartered only to serve bankers. As with most banks, TBB faced the challenge of offering competitive service and ensuring customer privacy that complies with federal regulations. To face the challenge, TBB turned to The Paperless Solution and Cabinet NG's Shared Access Filing Environment.

Initially, The Bankers Bank was looking only to use the Cabinet NG system for storing inactive documents. However, they soon realized they were generating too much paper and began scanning in current documents and checks.

"Once the team at The Paperless Solution showed us how powerful Cabinet NG is, we decided to expand deployment into other areas of our operation, including check scanning," said Mark P. Keeling, executive vice president and COO of The Bankers Bank. "As we apply the software in our operation, we look forward to discovering all the benefits Cabinet NG has to offer."

Jim True, vice president of Cabinet NG said The Bankers Bank requires a high level of customized attention. "Because Cabinet NG provides individual departments with their own individual cabinets, TBB gets the maximum in terms of efficiency, ease of use, and most importantly, security," he said.

"Using Cabinet NG's Shared Access Filing Environment can also allow The Bankers Bank to handle customer queries more quickly and deliver a greater degree of service and satisfaction."

The Paperless Solution takes companies from paper to paperless with electronic records management systems supported by a total solution approach that includes marketing, networking, consulting, hardware and disaster recovery backup systems.

"This is the next generation to efficiently manage data and files," said Stan Martin, president of The Paperless Solution. "Without compromising security, companies can increase operational efficiencies by decreasing personnel hours in manually handling files and by increasing office space with elimination of bulky file cabinets."